

Working From Home

Everyone is working from home
Simultaneously working for home
It's all about working in the home
Without an office environment at home.

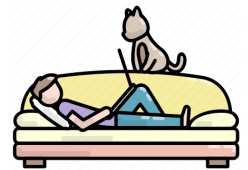

It's a significant stretch, literally
Multitasking between roles of home and work
Balancing the demands, truly
With a smiling and unworried look.

Dealing with emergencies all over
Confused on where to focus
Onto the screen of the work fuss
Or to the screams on the floor.

Sitting on the bed, sofa or the dining table
Working in a primitive home office
Giving partial attention that's selective
Is no way to be productive and effective.

While it's good to escape the torturous commute
But, tough to deal multiple responsibilities sametime
All needing complete and empathetic attention
Everyone needs to understand the situation.

All are working or studying from home
Each needing an isolated and peaceful place
Often crossing each others private bubble
Upsetting momentarily, concentration and sense.

What's needed is a practical cooperation
Little bit of support for everyone to succeed
From all in the family without any perspiration
Extending a cheerful and helping hand.

Some events change the course of the de facto
Churning the whole process of our living
Accept and be prepared for the new scenario
Welcoming new ways of working, all smiling.

It's all technology, stupid
Bringing all the good or bad
Gradually we are being isolated
At our homes, encircled in the digital world.

Finally, we have to learn to adopt
Embracing the newness that's right
To be bold and waiting for the changes
Always ready for the future and challenges.

Live to Work & Work to Live, All with a Smile
Girish Elchuri